BRECKENRIDGE BAPTIST ASSOCIATION MEETS AT AMMONS CHURCH

Excellent Attendance of Ministers, Messengers and Delegates—Many Visitors Come Both Days—Splendid Program.

The Breckenridge Baptist Association met Wednesday and Thursday with the Ammons church in Roberts Bottom. There were ten ministers present, Rev. J. E. Meng, preached the introductory sermon. C. D. Chick, representing the Western Recorder, Rev. O. Z. Cale, enlistment secretary for Kentucky, Dr. A. B. Gardner, superintendent of Kentucky Baptist Children's Home, Dr. Mitchell, vice-president of Georgetown College, were there. Nearly five hundred people were present, with more dinner than people. The Woman's Missionary Societies, of this county, met Wednesday with good reports. Nearly all of the eleven societies were represented in person. The meeting was greatly enjoyed by all.

The next meeting place of the association will be at Hardinsburg. The officers this time were Rev. Harvey English, moderator, W. P. Compton, assistant, and W. C. Moorman, clerk. The New Mission Board will meet at Hardinsburg Wednesday, before the second Sunday of this September.

The following messengers were present Wednesday and Thursday: Bewleyville—J. M. Compton, Chas.

S. R. ADKISSON

Dies in Kansas—Was a Native Of Breckenridge County.

W. C. Adkisson, of McFall, Mo., sends a notice of the death of his father as follows:

Samuel R. Adkisson, who for many years was a well-known citizen of the southeastern part of Gentry county, but who had of late years been making his home with his son and daughter in Colorado and Kansas, died at the daughter's home at Gem, Kansas, on June 30, 1915. In reporting the death of this good man, the Colby (Kan.) Free Press says:

Samuel R. Adkisson was born in Breckenridge county, Kentucky, March 15, 1834, died June 30, 1915, age 81 years, 3 months and 15 days. On February 11, 1858, he chose as his companion and wife, Miss Lucy C. Park, and he made no mistake in his choice, for she was a beautiful character and she proved to be a helpmate indeed. To this union were born five boys and one girl—Milton, of Burlington, Colo.; Roland, of Mt. Hamill, Iowa; Lizzie, Gem, Kansas; Charles, of Pattonsburg, Mo.; William and Ernest, of McFall, Mo.; all living.

Many Friends Think Of Dr. A. A. Simons.

The friends of Dr. A. A. Simons away from Cloverport will regret to learn that he has not been able to practice much this summer. His home people are anxious to see him recover his health and become encouraged over his condition.

Besides being of valuable service as a physician to the town and community, Dr. Simons organized the electric light company and made electricity for Cloverport which is appreciated every day. He is president of the Bank of Cloverport.

What Can Beat This?

Dear M. Babbage:—If you are going to print some of the fair premiums, lets have all of them. I did not see where Mrs. Thos. O'Donoghue won her barred Plymouth Rocks, first premium for the best hen, first for finest cockerel, first for best pullet, hatched Jan. 18, 1915 that she showed at the fair. It was just seven months old, had laid 27 eggs, set on nine eggs and hatched eight chickens. What pullet can beat this? Lets hear from the one who can.

Thos. O'Donoghue, Hardinsburg, Ky., R. 1.

HAT SAVES GIRL'S LIFE.

Wire Frame Protects Her Head From Falling Hammer.

A wire frame in her hat saved the life of Miss Lillian E. Woehrlie, twenty years old, of Scranton, Pa., when a machinist's hammer fell from a four story building and struck her on the head. Miss Woehrlie is at the State hospital suffering from a severe scalp wound.

She was on her way, to the courthouse when a roof repairer let the hammer drop. Physicians say the wire in the young woman's hat saved her from a fractured skull and perhaps instant death.

KAISER HAS 58 U BOATS.

Neutral Authority Says This Figure Is Correct.

The German undersea fleet comprises fifty-eight submarines, according to a neutral authority who has just returned to Denmark from Germany. Germany's Baltic fleet, according to the same authority, consists of thirty-eight warships.

SIX HELD IN BOMB PLOTS

Accused of Theft and Arson on Ships Belonging to Allies.

New York, Aug. 30.—Additional arrests and more serious charges than grand larceny are anticipated in the next few days as a result of the police bomb squads investigation and thefts on sugar ships destined for the allies. Information in the hands of Deputy Commissioner Guy Scull and Captain Thomas Tunney leads them to believe that many others besides the seven men now under arrest are involved in the alleged conspiracy. Detectives, disguised as longshoremen, now have under surveillance checkers and weighers in the employ of the steamship companies, whose vessels caught fire.

Of the six men who were arrested five were officers of lighters and barges which carried sugar to the steamships and a second-hand furniture dealer and one other, a checker on the French line pier, were each held in $3,000 bail.

It has been determined that approximately $75,000 to $100,000 worth of sugar was stolen and that perhaps a larger amount was damaged by fire.

Panic Caused by Earthquake.

Rome, Aug. 30.—In the Avezzano district violent earthquakes shocks during the last twenty-four hours caused a great panic. The new anti-seismic dwellings which were erected after the recent earthquake prevented a repetition of that disaster.

MANY OLD TIME DEMOCRATS MEET IN CONVENTION AT HARDINSBURG SATURDAY

Twenty Delegates Elected to Attend the State Convention Which Met in Louisville Yesterday—Resolutions Adopted.

A large crowd of harmonious and enthusiastic Democrats met at Hardinsburg last Saturday in mass convention to nominate delegates to attend the State convention in Louisville, which met Tuesday, August 31.

It was an old time convention made up of some of the best men in the party and from every section in the county. Stanley men were there, McChesney men and McDermott men all participated and had places on the committees and were appointed delegates. There was no bickering or wire pulling, nor was there any signs of discord. Representatives of the defeated candidates recognized the Democratic doctrine that to the victor belong the spoils and conceded their rights to name their representatives and gave them full power to act and control the convention, which they did. They were not hoggish, however, but gave the minority full representation in the convention and its organization. So an old time Democratic love feast was the result.

County Chairman Vic Pile called the convention to order promptly at one o'clock. Secretary Ed Dillon read the call.

The Hon. Gus Brown nominated Judge Henry DeHaven Moorman for chairman. His nomination was made unanimous.

Marshall Norton was elected secretary. Judge Moorman took the chair and made a very enthusiastic speech, which aroused the convention and was loudly applauded.

On motion the chair appointed the following committee on delegates: Vic Pile, Frank DeHaven, John O'Reilly, Dr. W. A. Walker and Paul Compton.

The committee on resolutions were: Cleveland Hendrick, Hon. Thos. J. Moore, Hon. E. H. Shellman, C. Vic Robertson, J. E. Monarch, R. D. St. Clair, D. C. Walls and Jesse Whitworth. While the committee was out [Gen. D. R. Murray addressed the convention in one of his old time Democratic speeches. The committee reported the following delegates:

Delegates.

Vic Pile, Gus Brown, Dr. W. A. Walker, H. DeH. Moorman, C. Vic Robertson, Marcus Mattingly, Frank DeHaven, Jesse Miller, J. D. Babbage, Bruce Moorman, H. C. Haddock, Paul

Miss Hinton Dead.

Miss Josephine Hinton died at her home Monday night at ten o'clock. She had been ill of tuberculosis some time.

Miss Hinton was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hinton, and was a member of St. Rose church. She was greatly loved by her family and friends.

Report of Resolutions' Committee.

By the Democrats of Breckenridge county, Kentucky, in Mass Convention assembled in the courthouse in Hardinsburg, Ky., on Saturday, August 28, 1915, pursuant to call of the State and County Chairman, be it resolved as follows:

FIRST—That we, unqualifiedly, and with pride and sympathy, indorse the strong character, wise and patriotic course, patient and prudent conduct of our country's great president, Woodrow Wilson, and his entire administration.

SECOND—That we indorse the conservative, loyal, democratic public and party service of our United States Senators, Hon. Ollie M. James and Hon. J. C. W. Beckham, and our congressman, Hon. Ben Johnson, and we hereby evidence our appreciation of their conspicuous service to our state and the nation; and we indorse our state administration in its wise policies, and we, unqualifiedly, indorse the entire State and county nominees.

THIRD—That we indorse the County Unit Law and favor its enforcement, and accept the results of the recent primary as eliminating this question from the campaign.

FOURTH—That the Breckenridge county delegation to the State Convention vote, as a unit, on all questions, motions and nominations; and that it support Hon. Ben. Johnson for chairman of the State Convention; and the delegates named by this convention shall name the chairman of their delegation, from their number at a meeting to be held and presided over by our county chairman, C. Vic Pile, in Louisville, and said delegation shall be governed and bound by these resolutions as the will of this convention.

Respectfully reported,

Z. C. Hendrick, chairman.
E. H. Shellman,
D. C. Walls,
J. Whitworth,
C. V. Robertson,
T. J. Moore,
J. E. Monarch,
R. D. St. Clair,
Committee on Resolutions.
The convention then adjourned.

MRS. BEAM TELLS OF HER ONE FEAR

Appetite So Ravenous She Is Afraid Board Bill Will be Raised.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 31.—Mrs. Leon S. Beam, wife of a well-known traveling man, who resides with her mother in Bardstown, came to Louisville recently for the sole purpose of expressing her gratitude for the remarkable accomplishments of the new medicine, Tanlac. She said:

"I have been frightfully nervous and so run-down. I was short of breath, and slight noises which did not formerly disturb me, upset my nerves dreadfully. If I had any energy I really didn't realize it. I took little interest in anything, and when those distressing headaches came upon me I was almost frantic. My digestion was bad and I had no appetite.

"Three or four doses of Tanlac made me feel decidedly better. I used a whole bottle of Tanlac, and am improved in every way. My digestion is better, my nerves are in excellent condition, and I have more color and feel stronger than I have in two or three years. Really, I have the most ravenous appetite, and my only fear is that my mother will be forced to increase my board bill."

Tanlac, the premier preparation, that brought such quick relief to Mrs. Beam and thousands of others, can be obtained in Cloverport at Wedding's Drug Store, and in Irvington at Irvington Pharmacy.

THE SECRETARY BIRD.

It Kicks Like a Mule and Can Swallow a Snake Whole.

The rarest and most valuable birds in the New York zoological garden are the strange pair of secretary birds quartered in the ostrich house. "Secretary birds" they are called because of the crest of long dark plumes that rises from the back of their heads, giving them the appearance of a clerk with a bunch of quill feathers behind his ear. It's an aristocratic name, but the thing that makes the secretary bird valuable is not his looks. The natives of South Africa love him because he can kick like a mule.

Toss into his cage a snake, no matter how vicious, and the fight begins immediately. The bird cautiously approaches the snake with wings wide-spread to escape the sudden lunges by flight if necessary. Once, twice, three times perhaps the snake lunges. The bird darts back, waiting his chance. At last it comes, and one of those long, hard legs shoots out like the hoof of a mule, landing squarely on the snake's head. It reels and falls back stunned to be knocked out completely by a second blow. And then its victor proceeds to swallow it whole.

In South Africa the birds are regarded as a great protection. They are affectionate mates and always travel together. When pursued they spread their wings and make off over the ground with the speed of a running horse.—Every Week.

Tree Leaves and Water.

Ash leaves are capable of taking up more water than those of most other trees. In a hundred pounds of ash leaves are eighty-five of water, in the same weight of beech leaves seventy-five, of maple sixty, of pine fourteen and of fir ten.

FLEETEST OF ALL DOGS.

Greyhounds Can Run as Fast as Carrier Pigeons Can Fly.

Comparatively few people realize of what remarkable speed dogs are capable. The wolf can run between fifty and sixty miles in one night, and the arctic fox can do quite as well, if not better. Nansen met one of these foxes on the ice at a point more than seventy miles northwest of the Sannikow territory, which is 480 miles from the Asiatic coast. Eskimo and Siberian dogs can travel forty-five miles on the ice in five hours, and there is one case on record in which a team of Eskimo dogs traveled six and one-half miles in twenty-eight minutes.

English setters and pointers hunt at the rate of eighteen to nineteen miles an hour, and they can maintain the speed for at least two hours. Foxhounds are extraordinarily swift, as is proved by the fact that a dog of this breed once beat a thoroughbred horse, covering four miles in six and one-half minutes. Greyhounds are the swiftest of all four footed creatures, and their speed may be regarded as equal to that of carrier pigeons. English greyhounds which are carefully selected and which are used for coursing are able to cover at full gallop a space between eighteen and twenty-three yards every second. It is said that a hare at its greatest speed never goes faster than at the rate of eighteen yards a second. These interesting statistics fully prove the right of the greyhounds to rank as the swiftest of the quadrupeds.—Springfield Republican.

VIOLENT DEATHS.

One Indication Is the Immediate Setting In of Rigor Mortis.

More than once the question of whether a person has died a natural or unnatural death turns upon something grasped in the hand. The object is held because the hand stiffens through what is known as rigor mortis (pronounced rye-gor mor-tis), a stiffening of the muscles of the body after death. Now, if a person dies naturally this stiffening of the muscles does not take place, as a rule, until two hours or more after death, and then it comes on slowly. In cases of violent death, however, rigor mortis sets in immediately. It is through this that many a murderer has been caught and many a so called accidental death proved to be intentional.

One of the most remarkable effects of this sudden stiffening after death appears in the account of the charge of Balacava. Captain Nolan while riding at the head of the noble six hundred had his chest torn open by a Russian shell.

The arm he was waving in the air at the moment remained high uplifted, and he retained his seat on his horse, which wheeled around and passed some distance through the ranks before the rider fell.

Portions of the hair and clothing of a murderer have often been found in the hands of the victim, while bodies recovered from the water have brought with them clutched in their fingers weeds and mud from the bottom, showing that death occurred in the water and not on land.—London Answers.

Natural Age of Man.

The question as to what is the natural age of man is by no means settled, of course, but many are of the opinion that the Frenchman Flourens was not far out of the way in his estimate of the time a man should live. Taking his observations from the group mammalia, of the class vertebrata, as having the closest resemblance to man and such species as are permitted to live the full term of their natural life under circumstances not admitting of error or doubt, Flourens found that their natural life extended to about five times the period of their lives from birth up to maturity. Applying the rule thus obtained to human life and taking the age at which the body is fully matured to be twenty years, he concluded the natural duration of the life of man to be 100 years.

ENGLAND'S THRONE.

As One of the Heirs to It, the German Emperor Is Very Remote.

In answer to the question, "Was the emperor of Germany ever considered an heir to the English throne and did Queen Victoria have a law passed to exclude him from the succession?" the Philadelphia Press says:

"The possibility of the German emperor ever succeeding to the throne of England is so very remote as to cause little thought. There was more or less talk on the subject at the time of the marriage of the kaiser's mother to the heir to the German throne in 1858, but we are unable to find that any parliamentary action was taken even then.

"After King George came his five sons and one daughter and their children, if any; then King George's sister Louise, Duchess of Fife, her two daughters and the son of the elder; then Princess Victoria, then Queen Maud of Norway and her son, making thirteen at present living in the line of succession. After that the succession reverts to the descendants of the late King Edward's brother, Alfred, duke of Edinburgh; Arthur, duke of Connaught, and Leopold, duke of Albany. As these all married and had numerous children and grandchildren, there is a long line of heirs to the throne before the succession would come to the descendants of the oldest sister of King Edward, the late Empress Frederick of Germany, the first of which line is Emperor William."

PITCHING IN BASEBALL.

Lack of Control Will Render Useless All Other Ability.

"In my ten years' connection with the American league as umpire I have seen the fact proved again and again that control is absolutely necessary to win success," writes Billy Evans in St. Nicholas.

"The more one studies the different features of the art of pitching the more clearly does he see the value that control plays in the success of the pitcher.

"If the pitcher knows the weakness of the batter and intends giving him a fast ball on the inside and then deliberately pitches to the opposite side his knowledge of the batter is of no use to him. Lack of control has rendered his knowledge useless.

"If he knows the shortstop is to cover and then pitches a ball to the batter that makes it easy for him to hit through the position vacated by the shortstop he nullifies the strength of his infield. Lack of control is again the cause.

"If the catcher signals for a waste ball in order to be in a better position to throw out a runner trying to steal and instead he gets the ball right over the plate he is handicapping the catcher. Lack of control is again the cause.

"After all, most of the finer points of pitching are based on ability to control the ball."

Stonehenge.

No sooner had we set foot on the first swell of plain than I became aware of what looked like a herd of elephants, half a mile ahead. They did not move, and slowly it dawned upon me that this was Stonehenge. A few minutes later, seated within the circles of those enormous stones, I was asking myself the old questions that so many travelers have asked. For worship, at least, these rude masses were erected; that seems fairly certain. And to commemorate a battle, if one may judge from the barrows that crown the neighboring hillocks. Religion and war—the two powers that have charmed and ruled and tortured the world. So mysterious is the whole of life, alike moral and physical, that the haunting wonder of Stonehenge was neither increased nor lessened by what then I saw.—Scribner's.

Many Species of Banana.

The banana as a substitute for the potato would have one drawback. It has been found that those who live mainly upon this article of diet soon tend to become what is politely called "tubby." The banana with which we are all familiar is only one of many useful species. Cochiti China produces a single fruit that is an ample meal for three men, and in East Africa an intoxicating drink is made from the native banana.—London Chronicle.

The Reason.

"The first year of married life is always the most troublesome. After a couple passes that safely the great danger of separation is over."

"Why do you say that?"

"It usually takes a man a year to learn the futility of arguing with his wife."—Detroit Free Press.

Tearing Sounds.

The ear can be trained to accustom itself to the sound of the tearing of various materials. The noise accompanying the tearing of cotton is unlike that of linen. The warp has its voice and the filling quite another, the former being shrill, while the latter is apt to be dull.

A Candid Caller.

A small boy had been coerced into making an afternoon call with his mother. He had rebelled vehemently over the calling business, saying: "Aw, what you want to make me go there for? She hasn't any boys, and it won't be any fun."

But, dressed in his best suit, he had put on his company manners and had behaved very well indeed, and when their hostess served refreshments he began to feel glad that he had come.

When it came time to leave he held out his hand, saying gallantly:

"Goodby; I've had a good time"—and then, right while his young mother was beaming her approval, he added honestly—"a whole lot better time than I expected to have."—Indianapolis News.

SECURITY LEAGUE SAYS NATION CRIES OUT FOR BETTER DEFENSES

Tremendous Interest Has Been Aroused Throughout the Country,
Report Shows.

Leading Men In All Sections Give Active Support to Plans For Adequate Preparedness.

A COMPREHENSIVE review of its nation wide campaign for more adequate preparedness for national defense was issued the other day by the National Security league from its national headquarters in New York city.

The tremendous interest awakened throughout the country through the activities of the league is reflected in the favorable attitude now being shown by members of congress irrespective of political affiliations toward national defense legislation.

The work of the National Security league is based upon the realization that congress is the pivot upon which more adequate national defense finally rests. The recommendations to congress of the general staff of the army and the general board of the navy have not received in the past the consideration which they deserve, nor has the money necessary to carry out the various projects been appropriated.

League's Work Appreciated.

Within the past few weeks the National Security league has brought its effort to change these conditions to the attention of members of congress and has requested an expression of opinion both as to the effectiveness of the methods employed and also as to the views held by the senators and representatives on the question of more adequate preparedness. Replies already received indicate that the work of the league is not only thoroughly appreciated, but is regarded as a patriotic and necessary endeavor. They also indicate that when the president brings the subject of more adequate national defense to the attention of congress, which it is officially announced he has determined upon, he will find that an awakened public sentiment for more adequate national preparedness is already making an impression upon congress.

As would naturally be the case, the senators and representatives in the New England states are thoroughly alive to the situation. In Maine Representative Asher C. Hinds of Portland says that he always had pronounced ideas on national defense, as his votes in the last congress will show. In Massachusetts, where the National league has branches in Boston, Worcester and many other cities and towns, Senator Lodge has declared himself positively in favor of more adequate national defense, saying that safety lies only in strength. Governor Walsh and Mayor Curley of Boston are in full sympathy with the movement. Representatives Frederick W. Dallinger, James L. Gallivan, Ernest W. Roberts, George H. Tinkham and Samuel E. Winslow, all of Massachusetts, have expressed themselves in letters to the league in favor of more adequate national defense.

In Rhode Island Governor R. Livingston Beeckman has accepted a position on the national committee of the league, while Representative G. S. O'Shaunessy states that he favors the strengthening of both the army and navy. In Connecticut Governor Holcomb is a member of the league's national committee, and Senator Brandegee states that he favors the program of the National Security league in making public the facts concerning the necessity for a larger degree of preparedness for national defense in case of emergency. New Hampshire already has a State League of National Defense, while Representative Greene of Vermont says that he sympathizes most heartily with any well founded and well directed effort to awaken the American people to a realizing sense of the unpreparedness of this country for national defense.

New York Practically Solid.

The movement for more adequate national defense originated in New York, where literally billions of dollars' worth of property interests are at the mercy of any hostile warships able to get within the range of New York. The New York city congressional delegation is practically solid in favor of large appropriations for the army and navy, and the up state congressmen are none the less favorable. In letters to the National Security league Senator J. W. Wadsworth, Jr., of New York and Representatives Lathrop Brown, Reuben L. Haskell, Walter W. Magee, George W. Loft, Luther W. Mott, Thomas G. Patten, Edmund Platt, F. W. Rowe and Homer P. Snyder, all of New York, announce their willingness to favor very substantial increase in the army and navy and with a reserve sufficient to protect this country in all emergencies.

South Gives Its Aid.

In the south Governors Ferguson of Texas, Hall of Louisiana and McCreary of Kentucky have accepted positions on the national committee of the National Security league, and expressions of sympathy with the movement for adequate preparedness have been received from Representatives C. B. Stemp, Virginia; L. P. Padgett, Tennessee, chairman of the house committee on naval affairs; Frank Park, Georgia, and Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas. Branches are being formed in Louisville and Atlanta, and one already exists in Chattanooga.

The impetus of the movement along the Atlantic coast is having its effect in the middle west. In Ohio, where Governor Willis is a member of the national committee and where Myron T. Herrick heads a strong branch in Cleveland, the two United States senators, Atlee Pomerene, a Democrat, and Warren G. Harding, a Republican, have gone on record in letters to the league as being in favor of legislation necessary to accomplish the object sought. Representative S. C. Fess of Ohio, who was formerly an advocate of the peace movement, has been converted by the tragic events in Europe and now believes that preparedness is one of the most important issues which should be considered by congress. Representative Merrill Moores of Indianapolis says that he is in sympathy with the purposes of the National Security league and would give this nation first place in the naval ranks as soon as possible.

One Thousand Members In Chicago.

The interest displayed in the matter of national defense in Illinois has been something phenomenal. In Chicago a branch of the league, with nearly 1,000 members, has been organized, with ex-Secretary of War Jacob M. Dickinson at its head, and the membership includes the most representative citizens. Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman writes that under present conditions there is but one sane course, which is to keep this country where it can defend itself properly against any aggressor. Letters favoring a betterment of defense conditions have been received from Representatives B. M. Chipperfield, Ira C. Copley, E. E. Denison, W. A. Rodenberg, John A. Sterling and Claudius U. Stone of Illinois.

It is an interesting fact that the chairmen of the Democratic and Republican congressional campaign committees live in almost contiguous states, Michigan and Iowa. Representative Frank E. Doremus, Michigan, says that he can be put down as in favor of a strong navy for defensive purposes, believing that the young men of the country should be thoroughly trained to military life. Representative Frank P. Woods, Iowa, says that he believes, with George Washington, that "the best way to prepare for peace is to be ready for war." In Michigan the league has formed a branch at Detroit, with Charles B. Warren, president of the Detroit chamber of commerce, at its head, and the Michigan congressmen.

Governor Hanna of North Dakota, Governor Byrne of South Dakota, Governor Clarke of Iowa and Governor Philipp of Wisconsin are members of the league's national committee, while Representatives Harry E. Hull, Iowa; George R. Smith and Halvor Steenerson, Minnesota; Royal C. Johnson, South Dakota; John J. Esch, Wisconsin; J. W. Alexander, Missouri; Dan V. Stephens, Nebraska; Guy F. Helvering and W. A. Ayers, Kansas, and Addison T. Smith, Idaho, are all to be found in line with the proposition.

ENDORSED AT HOME

Such Proof as This Should Convince Any Cloverport Citizen.

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow-citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that should be appreciated. The following statement given by a resident of Cloverport adds one more to the many cases of Home Endorsement which are being published about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read it.

L. V. Chapin, Cloverport, says: "I was in a bad shape with kidney trouble. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills recommended, I went to Fisher's Drug Store and got a box. One box cured me. I have had no need of a kidney medicine since."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Chapin had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Pacific Coast Enthusiastic.

The Pacific coast is thoroughly alive to its present defenseless condition, and the feeling in the coast states extends also to the Rocky mountain region. The position of the senators and representatives of Utah, Wyoming, Oregon, California and Washington in favor of the safety which lies only in strength is shown in letters from Senators George Sutherland, Utah, and Miles Poindexter, Washington; Representatives Frank W. Mondell, Wyoming; E. A. Hayes, Utah; Julius Kahn and John E. Raker, California; C. N. McArthur, Oregon, and L. H. Hadley and William E. Humphrey, Washington. Governor Stewart of Montana, Governor Kendrick of Wyoming, Governor Withycombe of Oregon, Governor Hunt of Arizona, Governor Boyle of Nevada and Governor McDonald of New Mexico are members of the national committee of the National Security league.

Making Deep Impression.

Commenting upon a review of the activities of the league, S. Stanwood Menken, president of the National Security league, said: "Senator Chamberlain's statement hits the nail on the head. The only way in which the country can be made to realize its present unprepared condition is by the work the National Security league is doing, and it is pleasing to note that we are making an impression upon the men in congress to whom we must look for the necessary legislation and appropriations. There is still, however, a tremendous amount of work to be done. There are entire sections of the country which have not been made acquainted with the facts concerning our lack of preparedness and which must be educated. The task is a great one, but we feel that the progress which has been made along definite and conservative lines and without any regard to politics is one which the entire country ought to appreciate and support."

To the Public.

"I feel that I owe the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy a word of gratitude," writes Mrs. T. N. Witherall, Gowanda, N. Y. "When I began taking this medicine I was in great pain and feeling terribly sick, due to an attack of summer complaint. After taking a dose of it I had not long to wait for relief as it benefited me almost immediately. Obtainable everywhere."

NO JOB FOR CIGARETTE USER

Kansas Civil Service Bars Smokers and Drinking Men.

Cigarette users as well as drinking men are to be barred from state employment in Kansas under the rules promulgated by the new state civil service commission.

In a preliminary statement issued some time ago it was announced that users of intoxicating liquors would be ineligible to hold state jobs, but in the completed rules is the following:

"The commission may refuse to certify an application for the habitual user of intoxicating beverages or cigarettes."

CHOPSTICKS IN JAPAN.

How They Are Used and How They Are Served in Public Places.

The use of chopsticks is general in Japan, except among the richer classes, who have adopted European knives and forks, and, to some extent, the European cuisine. Small bowls of china or lacquered wood are the usual table equipment. After the various solid portions of the food have been lifted to the mouth with chopsticks the liquid remaining is sipped from the bowl.

In the case of rice, which would be tedious to pick up grain by grain, the bowl is often raised to the mouth and the rice shoveled or pushed in with the chopsticks. It is also customary to pour a little tea into the rice bowl after it has been nearly emptied, and in this way the few remaining grains of rice are washed down as the tea is drunk.

At public places the chopsticks at each meal must be new. This is indicated by the fact that the chopsticks are made from one piece of wood and are left joined together, as were matches at one time in the United States. These new chopsticks are incased in a thin paper envelope, sealed at the end, and bearing Japanese characters advertising either the hotel or some firm that has furnished them free to the proprietor for the sake of the publicity thus gained. Toothpicks, which are freely used by all Japanese at meals, are also inclosed in envelopes that frequently bear advertising matter.—New York Times.

Woman loves a clear, rosy complexion. Burdock Blood Bitters is splendid for purifying the blood, clearing the skin, restoring sound digestion. All druggists sell it. Price $1.00.

Crowns by Wholesale.

It is told of one of the ancient kings of Egypt that his coronation procession occupied a whole day in passing through the city of Alexandria and that 3,200 crowns of gold were carried by the servants. One crown was three feet in height and twenty-four feet in circumference. There were also carried in the procession sixty-four suits of golden armor, two boots of gold, four and a half feet in length; twelve golden basins, ten large vases of perfumes for the baths, twelve ewers, fifty dishes and a large number of tables—all of gold. Twenty-three of the 3,200 crowns were valued at £34,400, and it is not surprising that the procession was guarded by 90,000 soldiers.—St. James' Gazette.

Cures Hog Cholera.

B. A. Thomas Hog Powders has a record of 95 cures out of every hundred. The makers of this medicine say they know what it will do and authorize us to guarantee a 90 per cent cure. This means that if B. A. Thomas Hog Powders do not cure 90 per cent of your hogs, it does not cost you a penny. Better look into this right now. Remember we do the guaranteeing. Let Her In on This.

"I believe a man should be master in his own house," said the newly married man. "There can be only one head in a family, and I mean to be it." "That's a very good idea," answered his friend, who had been married more years than the other had lived, "a very good idea indeed. Have you spoken to your wife about it?"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

EXPLOSIVES OF WARFARE.

To a Great Extent They Are a Development of Fireworks.

War is a wholesale fireworks celebration. A giant firecracker is really a dangerous bomb, and rifle grenades are but small rockets, carrying high explosives and fired from rifles. Great fort destroying projectiles look simply like gigantic rockets.

The first magazine gun was a Roman candle. The first projectile propelled by an explosive was a rocket. The first shrapnel was a bomb discharging luminous stars instead of bullets.

Modern warfare is, so to speak, a development of Fourth of July ideas.

However, gunpowder—the first explosive—was itself mere play stuff for at least a thousand years before anybody thought of using it for war purposes. It was commonly employed in China for fireworks and crackers during the earliest centuries of the Christian era. The bombs nowadays dropped by military aviators are children's torpedoes magnified to make them deadly.

Really an incendiary bomb was the famous "Greek fire" of the crusaders. It has been said that shrapnel is a modified fireworks bomb. It has the form of a cylinder, which, at a distance from the gun muzzle suitably timed by a fuse, blows its own head off, throwing out 250 or more lead bullets that travel on their own account with a velocity of 400 feet a second.—Philadelphia Record.

WATER-CURE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.

Dr. S. A. Knoff, a New York physician, urges water-cure for consumptives. He invariably asks every new patient how much water he drinks daily; most frequently the answer is, "I drink very little." When the patient is taken under treatment and urged to drink from six to eight glasses of water between meals and even small quantities with his meals, it is surprising to notice how quickly nearly all the symptoms, such as high temperature, headaches, and anorexia disappear, and even the cough becomes better. Dr. Knoff gives the reason, but the result is more interesting. The increased amount of water digested also helps to make the sputum less tenacious. The beneficial action of water can be materially increased by the patient taking an abundance of salt with his meals. He urges the frequent external use of cold water. Dr. Knoff pleads ardently for the establishment of public baths. Bathing frequently in winter and summer is one of the essential features to develop a healthy, strong and tuberculosis-free population.

GOING AWAY TO SCHOOL.

A number of boys and girls are getting ready to "go away to school" next week. The training they have received in their own home will facilitate them in their college life. Correct table manners, not to talk while eating, to sit up straight at the table and not keep your eyes on your own plate all the time, to think of others and not complain constantly at the food and service, observing this which has been taught you three times a day at home, will help you to conquer that college course.

PROTECTS HIS COWS' EYESIGHT.

Thomas Fortune Ryan, of Nelson county, Virginia, and New York, will protect the eyesight of his valued milk cows. An expert curtain maker was sent to his farm, Oak Ridge, to measure the windows of his $60,000 dairy barn there and since then he has made roller shades of the best material and put them up in the quarters of the milk cows. To be rich and kind—and kind to dumb animals should keep a man rich.

Hundreds of schools open next week. The teachers are better prepared and equipped for their work. They have not idled away the summer, but have studied at home, or attended a teacher's normal. Everybody is glad to have them back again.

"Several Cloverport boys have made engineers of themselves by faithful service on the L., H. & St. L. "They are brave men and I am proud of everyone of them," said an appreciative citizen of our home town last week.

This is the counting time. Every housekeeper can tell you how many glasses of jelly she has made, the number of cans of tomatoes, jars of butter-beans and bottles of grape-juice there are on her pantry shelf.

Mrs. Mary Oelze.

Mrs. Crenshaw and daughter, Miss Jane Crenshaw, have returned to Versailles. Mrs. Crenshaw will spend October in New York.

At the meeting of the Division Board of Education No. 2, J. H. Blythe was elected chairman and Dickey Miller, secretary, for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Fred Ferry and daughter, Miss Annie Murray Ferry, are spending several days on the house-boat, Bohemia. Mr. Ferry was here from Louisville for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett and daughter, Miss Mary Barrett, of Louisville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Byrne Severs last week. Mrs. Barrett will spend the fall and winter here.

Mrs. Edward McAfee, of Irvington, visited her mother, Mrs. Mullen, and Mrs. Henry Yeager last week. She will leave soon for Marshall, Texas, to visit her sister, Mrs. Reynolds.

Edison P. Gibson, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gibson, received a telegram Friday, calling him back to his position with the railroad at Bakersfield, Cal. Mr. Gibson left at once for the place.

Interesting Meeting Held at High School.

Through an invitation from Prof. McCoy there was quite an interesting meeting at the school building Friday afternoon. Addresses were made by Prof. McCoy, Rev. Frank, Dr. McDonald, Messrs. Proctor Keith and V. Babbage.

The object of the meeting was to formulate plans for the organization of parents, teachers and any one interested in an increase of interest in the school. At the close of the meeting a social hour, with refreshments, was very much enjoyed. Further notice will be given of this organization.

The town is to be congratulated on the re-election of the School Board. You have only to visit the schoolhouse to see the many improvements and the people should co-operate with Prof. McCoy in making this the best school year Cloverport has ever known.

Mrs. Groves Buys Farm.

Mr. Tom Groves, of Tobinsport, and Mrs. Lena Groves, of Skillman, Ky., were in the city Thursday on business. Mrs. Groves closed the trade for the purchase of 45 acres off the old Floyd Mason farm, the portion by the roadside upon which stands the stonehouse. She bought it of a Mr. Connor for $3,000. This is $66.66 per acre. It is fine corn land. She will lease it to her brother-in-law, Logan Tomer, of Skillman, who will remove to it before next cropping season. Mrs. Groves is figuring on building a residence on the higher ground on the place that does not overflow.—Cannelton Telephone.

ARABIC HAD LONG BY GERMAN

Was Greatest Ammunition Carrier In the Service of Great Britain and Her Allies.

WHEN the White Star liner Arabic dropped under the surface off the Irish coast the German admiralty had accomplished a feat it had been striving for ever since last October. The Arabic had been a thorn in the side of the imperial government as a successful and elusive munition carrier ever since she replaced the Cedric in the New York and Liverpool service ten months ago.

Captain William Finch, the vessel's portly commander, was a thinker—a resourceful skipper who was eagerly sought either going or coming by the undersea craft that had been laying for him at every point in the war zone where he was supposed to fetch up to get his bearings.

Germans After Finch.

It was known in the shipping district that the Germans wanted to get Finch. He knew it himself, but the game amused rather than annoyed him. He munition carrier. While in Liverpool early in June six fires were discovered on board in various places, but were fought successfully. They were enough to frighten travelers away, and the few that did cross on her to New York on the trip ending July 11 were startled by false alarms of fire in mid-Atlantic.

Early in February, when British passenger carriers were resorting to the use of the American flag as a protection against attack, the Arabic steamed boldly up the Irish sea flying a big British ensign and jack.

The Arabic had been for almost a year a floating arsenal on each of her east bound trips from New York. She was a ship of 15,801 tons gross, and an enormous cargo could be stowed away in her hold. Her decks were usually congested with automobile trucks and aeroplanes. She was 600 feet long and had a beam of 65 feet. Submarines were trying to get the

Each time her great cargo facilities, approximately 16,000 tons, were taxed to the utmost, and on her last trip, leaving on July 28, her sailing was delayed several hours to stow the biggest cargo of war munitions that ever has left New York.

According to the most authentic information obtainable the Arabic had not been armed on any of her voyages from New York. Examination was made by Collector Malone's neutrality squad before each eastward voyage. The nearest approach to arming the liner was the organization of part of her crew into a rifle club, which practiced firing at a raft off the stern of the ship. On recent trips she carried fewer passengers. Among the 105 in the cabin and 80 in the steerage on her last voyage to Liverpool five were Americans. Before that voyage the liner was painted a slate color, and her wheelhouse was banked with sandbags to protect her steering apparatus from damage by shell fire.

Much Gold Aboard.

So rapidly did the Arabic sink that the splendid executive ability of Captain W. Finch, her commander, and the discipline of his crew, alone prevented a much larger loss of life.

The Arabic carried a heavy cargo, including a big sum in gold consigned to J. P. Morgan & Co. by the British government. This will, of course, be a total loss. Stocks and bonds to an estimated value of several million dollars were also aboard. These securities had been purchased by Americans on cable orders for delivery in thirty days.

The bonds are numbered and so can be replaced, but not until after

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

V.—E. P. Ripley

On Relations of Railroads and People

The industrial leaders of this nation are talking to the public face to face through the columns of this paper. The time was when if a corporation had anything to say to the people they sent a lobbyist to explain it to the legislature, but the men who know and the men who do are now talking over the fence to the man who plows.

When the leading business men of this nation get "back to the soil" with their problems, strife and dissension will disappear, for when men look into each other's faces and smile there is a better day coming.

Mr. E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe Railroad, when asked to give his views in reference to relations existing between the railroad and the public said in part:

"Frequently we hear statements to the effect that these relations are improving, that the era of railroad bailing has passed and that public sentiment now favors treating the railroads fairly. As yet this change in public sentiment, if any such there be, is not effective in results.

It is true that in the legislatures of the southwestern states during the past winter there were fewer unreasonable and unreasonable laws passed than usual, but a consideration of the hostile bills introduced shows that there is still reason for much disquiet even though they were defeated by more or less of a majority.

Moreover, the idea that the railroads have been harshly treated does not seem to prevail in the offices of the State Railroad Commissions which seem to cherish a notion that their business is not to act as an arbitrator between the railroads and the people, but which proceed on the theory that the railroads are able to take care of themselves and that their duty is to act as attorney for the people even though in so doing they deny justice to the railroads. It requires no argument to demonstrate that the railroads are entitled to justice equally with other citizens and taxpayers. That they have not received it and are not receiving it is perfectly susceptible of proof. That they have practically no recourse in the courts has also been determined.

The situation therefore is that the people, through their representatives, must elect whether the services of the railroads shall be adequately compensated or not; and it requires no fortune teller or soothsayer to predict that in the long run the service will take the class that is paid for and no better.

The natural competition between the railroads and the natural desire to perform first-class service has heretofore resulted in giving the public much more than it was willing to pay for. Continuation of this will be impossible and no laws, however drastic, can long accomplish the impossible."

Absent Witnesses

This day came the Commonwealth's Attorney of the Ninth Judicial District and tendered the following written motion, to-wit:

"Owing to the fact that many, many witnesses were called in the court room during the present term, who had been duly and legally summoned in important criminal cases, and, owing to the fact that great inconvenience, delay and expense resulted therefrom to other witnesses, the court and the Commonwealth of Kentucky, I hereby move the court that a forthwith attachment issue, hereafter, for each and every witness who is subpoenaed for the Commonwealth and who thereafter fails or refuses to be in the court room, and to answer to his name, when called, be that time 9:00 o'clock a. m., or any other hour of the day before court is adjourned or the witness excused by the Commonwealth or the court. Believing this my duty, in furthering the ends of justice and saving the State expense, I respectfully pray the judgment of the court on this motion; and, if same be sustained, I further move that notice of the court's action in the premises be published in The Breckinridge News and the Record Press for three consecutive issues next preceding the October, 1915, term of the Breckinridge Circuit Court.

Respectfully submitted,
H. D. H. MOORMAN,
Commonwealth's Attorney, Ninth Judicial District, State of Kentucky."

The court being advised in the premises, adjudges that the suggested rule is necessary, wise and wholesome, and sustains said motion, and the sheriff of Breckinridge county is hereby ordered and directed to hereafter notify each witness subpoenaed of the existence of this rule and order and to govern themselves accordingly; and it is further ordered that the clerk of the Breckinridge Circuit Court deliver a true copy of this order to The Breckinridge News and to the Record Press in time for same to be inserted for three consecutive issues of each paper next preceding the October, 1915, term of this court.

THE ARABIC, HER LIFE BOATS AND A DECK VIEW.

is reported to have said once that if they ever got him it would be west-bound, when he didn't have anything on board that the allies wanted very badly.

That was the way they got him, west-bound, with a comparatively small passenger complement and cargo. On the eight or nine eastbound trips of the Arabic, when she was laden to the plimsoll with 10,000 or 12,000 tons of fighting material, Finch never showed up where he was expected or when he was expected, and the vessel got through safely.

The Arabic was either ahead of schedule or behind schedule. Sometimes she would make the land, and sometimes she would lay well off the Irish coast, nosing over well to the east near the Bristol channel and the Welsh coast or to the south a little northwest of the Scillys.

Undersea attack was not the only means employed by enemies to sink the Arabic. On her last eastward passage to Liverpool an effort was made to explode dynamite on board. On the night before her departure from New York two sticks of the explosive were found at midnight in the women's lavatory and turned over to the bureau of combustibles. The find was kept secret until Aug. 6, when the vessel arrived safely in Liverpool, after which the White Star officials confirmed the statement issued by police headquarters.

Fire Also Tried.

Fire was another form of destruction directed upon the Arabic to get her out of the way as a menacing am-

Arabic in May, when the Lusitania was sent to the bottom off the Old Head of Kinsale. Finch heard the same warnings that were sent out to the Lusitania and, heeding them, escaped.

The message, which was in code, was sent out from the admiralty's flagship in Queenstown harbor and, deciphered, read: "Submarines active off south coast of Ireland."

The skipper said he caught the message Wednesday night after leaving Liverpool, and although he intended to give the Irish coast a wide berth he changed his course suddenly to the southeast toward Bristol, going thirty-five miles out of his course. Then he encountered fog and had its protection until out of the danger zone.

Gun Club Aboard.

The Arabic has frequently come to public attention, and recently her name was associated with the question of arming merchantmen for defensive measures. On her arrival in New York July 23 passengers talked freely of the "gun club" organized by stewards, stokers and sailormen.

It was said members of the gun club were equipped with high powered rifles that could put a submarine out of commission and that they practiced at a target towed a thousand yards astern. The Arabic's stern during the last four or five trips has been well banked with sandbags to protect her steering gear in the event of her running away from a submarine.

On each of her last three eastward voyages the ship carried an average of $1,000,000 worth of war supplies.

They will not be paid for until delivered. Interest, however, began on the day of promised delivery, so that Americans who now own the bonds will realize an income from them for at least sixty days before they pay for them.

The German submarine is said to have been the latest type U boat. She drove a torpedo into the Arabic under the water line, about 100 feet from the stern.

Survivors Describe Rescue.

Charles Pringle of the Motor company, limited, of Toronto said that most of the passengers on board the Arabic were Canadians. Discussing the work of rescue, Mr. Pringle said:

"It was really marvelous that so many persons were saved. All the lifeboats were crowded when they were launched, and some persons were thrown into the water. There were some very panicky scenes, but the crew kept cool heads and rescued most of those struggling in the water. The floating rafts did good service, several passengers clinging to them for a considerable time.

"One woman, the mother of three children, had an arm broken and became separated from her children when the boats were lowered. She did not know of their fate until she met them at the landing place. It was an affecting scene as she clasped them to her breast."

The Arabic was 600 feet long, her beam 65.5 feet and her displacement 15,801 tons. Her value at the time of her loss was $1,000,000, not counting, of course, the cargo.

GOLF AS CURE FOR INSANE PATIENTS

Winois Hospital Says Outdoor Life Is Greatest Need.

KEEPS THE MIND DIVERTED

Golf Clubs, Tennis Rackets, Baseball Bats and Croquet Mallets Take the Places of Straitjackets and Solitary Confinement Cells—Great Results Are Expected From the New Ideas.

Cows and sheep have been driven from a seventy-five acre pasture in Elgin, Ill., and men, under supervision of an expert, are laying out a nine hole golf course for the Illinois State Hospital For the Insane.

This golf course is not for doctors and attendants employed in the asyllum. It's for patients.

Dr. H. J. Gahagan, superintendent of the hospital, has hit upon golf as a cure for insanity. Patients of every type will be taught to play.

The idea is part of a new theory in the handling of insanity cases, the theory being that outdoor life will work wonders where confinement simply makes cases of dementia more aggravated.

All methods of restraint in the handling of patients, even those of the acutely disturbed class, have been abolished at the Elgin asylum. Cure by kindness is the basis of the new method.

Throw Straitjacket Away.

So tennis rackets, golf sticks, baseball bats and croquet mallets are taking the place of straitjackets, handcuffs and solitary confinement rooms.
Tennis and croquet courts and a baseball diamond have already been laid out. Patients are using them. Dr.
Gahagan says the behavior of patients is 50 per cent better than when the men and women—there are 2,045 at the asylum—are confined behind barred windows.

"Insane persons are a good deal like children," Dr. Gahagan said. "They will fight for the things that are denied them. But if these things are not denied them they stop fighting."

"Under the old system patients of the acutely disturbed class were placed in straitjackets or in solitary confinement. Some were fastened to benches so they could not move hands or feet.
Now we handle these cases by putting the patients in cold and warm packs or in cold or warm water baths. That treatment soothes.

"When a patient who had been unruly had been fastened to a bench, under the old system of treatment, he pulled and tugged, trying to get free.
He wore himself out. Even then his mind was set on freedom, and he kept saying to himself, 'I'll get out of this yet.' That wearied his brain. All this has been done away with.

"A woman patient may tear her clothes. We do not restrain her by tying her hands. If she tears one dress nurses put another on her. If she tears that another is put on her. Finally, when she realizes no one cares if she tears her clothes, she stops.

Golf a Great Curative.

"I think golf is going to be a great curative. It will be better than tennis or croquet, for in those games the player is confined to the court. At golf there will be seventy-five acres of beautiful scenery over which the patient may roam. Bating the ball around the course will divert his mind, and that's important.

"Golf will be a stimulant to the depressed, melancholic patient and a sedative to the acutely disturbed.

"It will serve as a cure in curable cases and will lengthen the lives of incurable patients.

"The walk over the course, the breathing of fresh air and other exercise attendant on the game will give patients better appetites, help work off poisons that naturally accrue from a diseased brain and promote sleep.

"Of course patients on the golf course will be attended, but just think of the effect of being allowed to stroll in the fresh air over a beautiful plot of ground compared to being cooped up in a building.

"I'll tell you just how strong I am for this new system—I expect in time to take the bars off every window in the institution. I have already taken the bars off one building. The effect will be psychological. If there is nothing to remind a patient of the fact that he is held in, there will not be the temptation to jump.

"Liberal treatment is giving us many cures. Golf will give us more."

Worth Their Weight in Gold.

"I have used Chamberlain's Tablets and found them to be just as represented, a quick relief for headaches, dizzy spells and other symptoms denoting a torpid liver and a disordered condition of the digestive organs. They are worth their weight in gold," writes

Cemeteries Where Women Gossip.

Friday, the Sabbath of the Moslems,
when all true believers of the masculine gender make a point of going to church, their wives, sisters and daughters resort to the cemeteries and wait for the dead. But all their time is not spent in weeping, and sorrow is not the only emotion they display on these occasions. They take with them bunches and garlands of flowers and decorate the graves of their relatives and pray and weep over the dead for a time.
Then when this pious duty is performed they gather in little groups and have a good time gossiping about the living.
Thus the day of mourning is very popular among the Moslem women. It gives them almost the only opportunity they have of cultivating the acquaintance of their neighbors.

FINANCIAL ECONOMY.

One Man's Scheme When He Found His Capital Was Shrinking.

What one man did when he discovered his capital was shrinking is told in the American Magazine:

"A friend let me into a secret of his financial economy which strikes me as valuable. He is of middle age, with a small family, and has an income of $3,500 a year. He has put by a few thousand dollars. His investments are in gilt edged securities.

"At the end of every six months he figures out exactly the value of his property. Each share of stock, each bond is reckoned at its present market price, and the sale value of his house is placed at the lowest figure. To the current value of his estate he adds his life insurance. The result is the capital which would be available for the support of his wife and children should he suddenly die.

"At the last three reckonings my friend found that his capital was shrinking. There had been declines in certain stocks and bonds and a falling off in the value of his real estate.
What did he do? Commiserate himself? Not at all. He went to a life insurance company and took out a policy large enough more than to cover the shrinkage in his capital. Comparatively speaking, it cost him very little, but it added a neat sum to the value of his estate and guaranteed an unimpaired income to his wife."

GENERAL VIEW KENTUCKY STATE FOREST NURSERY LOUISVILLE, KY.—ADJACENT STATE FAIR GROUNDS

This nursery is 25 acres in extent and will include a small experimental forest.

FOREST TAXATION

One of the most important factors in connection with the growing of trees for commercial purposes is the matter of taxation, and this is a matter which so far as Kentucky is concerned, has had little attention. In the first place, there is no classification of land within the State for taxation purposes. It is a generally accepted theory among experts in this matter at the present time that there is only one fair method of taxation which may be applied to land maintained by the owner in forest growth and that is that there should be a tax placed on the land which shall be an annual tax, and another tax placed on the forest crop when it is harvested.
In no other manner does it seem probable that reforestation of suitable areas throughout the State may be accomplished, since in the first place, on account of the character of the investment the owner of the land must be assured before hand just what his taxes on the land are to be, and in the second place the risks attendant upon the raising of a forest crop, because of the long period of years before it reaches maturity, make it essential that the crop of forest products shall be taxed at maturity when it is harvested, rather than that an annual tax shall be imposed. Certain States have already gone a long ways in this direction and Pennsylvania has recently passed three laws dealing with the matter of forest taxation and the classification of forest land which embrace the best features of recent thought on this subject. The essentials of the recent Pennsylvania laws

are as follows:

1. Classification of suitable land set aside by the owner for forest purposes
as auxiliary forest reserves.
2. Agreement with the State to maintain such land in forest growth and penalties for failure to carry out agreement.
3. Assessment of land classified as auxiliary forest reserves at $1.00 per acre annual tax.
4. Payment by owner of 10 per cent of the value of the forest products when harvested to the county to be distributed among the proper county funds.
5. Fixed charge on auxiliary forest reserve land of two cents per acre for schools and two cents per acre for roads.

Under these provisions it is obvious that the growing of timber on suitable areas would be reduced to a practical business basis.

INDIAN SUMMER.

The Term May Have Had Its Origin in the Far East.

The origin of the term "Indian summer," like that of the word "blizzard," has been the subject of much research.
It has been traced back only as far as the latter part of the eighteenth century, and it did not become common until after the first decade of the nineteenth.

Many explanations of the name have been offered, all of which assume that the term "Indian" used in this connection refers to the American Indians.

A recent note in the Monthly Weather Review calls attention to a totally different use of this term, in which the reference is not to the American Indians, but to East India.

Under the British board of trade regulations one of the load lines marked on ships bears the initials "I. S.," this being the maximum depth to which vessels can be loaded for voyages during the "Indian summer"—i. e., the fine season in the Indian seas.

How long has the term "Indian summer" been used in this sense? It is not recorded in any dictionary nor apparently in any work on meteorology.
Is it possible that our autumnal Indian summer was so named by sailors or travelers who saw in it a resemblance to the fine weather attending the northeast monsoon in India?

When to Stop Advertising.

An English journal requested a number of the largest advertisers to give their opinions concerning the best time to stop advertising, and the following replies were received:

When the population ceases to multiply and the generation that crowded on after you and never heard of you stops coming on.

When you have convinced everybody whose life will touch yours that you have better goods and lower prices than he can get anywhere else.

When you stop making fortunes solely through the direct use of this mighty agent.

When younger and fresher houses in your line cease starting up.

When you would rather have your own way and fail than take advice and win.

None Equal to Chamberlain's

"I have tried most all of the cough cures and find that there is none that equal Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
It has never failed to give me prompt relief," writes W. V. Harner, Montipeler, Ind. When you have a cold give this remedy a trial and see for yourself what a splendid medicine it is.
